for children and young people.

What to tell young people

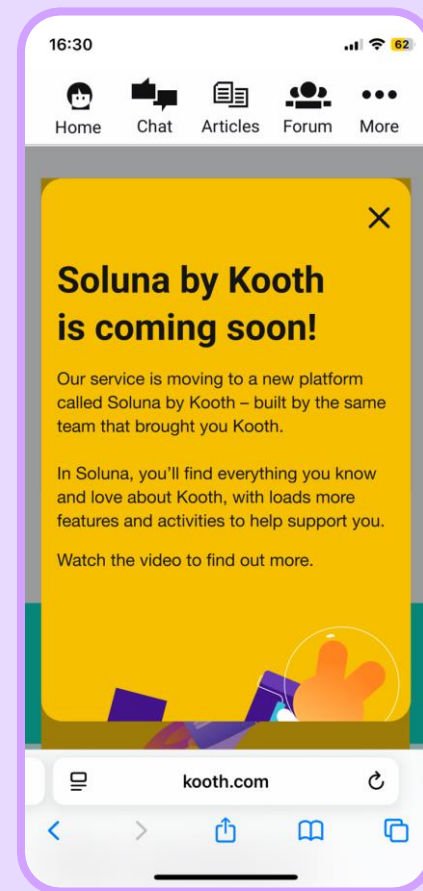

The Kooth service is evolving into Soluna by Kooth later this year.

Everything you rely on stays the same. Free, confidential support. Trained practitioners and wellbeing support. A safe, moderated community. None of that is going anywhere. What's changing is the experience of accessing it

You don't need to do anything right now.

Keep using Kooth.com as normal. There will be no break in support.

When Soluna is ready for you, you'll see a message when you log in, with clear step-by-step instructions on what to do next.

What this means for you

Please continue to signpost young people to Kooth as normal.

There will be no break in support.

Later this year, we will begin moving current service users across to Soluna by Kooth, providing clear step-by-step instructions.

We will also share updated links and resources ahead of changes to signposting.

Once Soluna is live, anyone visiting Kooth.com will be automatically redirected.

Thank you
